

A Show for Young Audiences

By

Patrick O'Flaherty

(Patrick and Elsa Nasibi)

Irish Musician

Instruments: mandolin, accordion, harmonica, banjo, and vocals.

“A Taste of Ireland” is a unique one-hour performance designed by Patrick O'Flaherty to share his culture, music and language with young audiences.

Contact Information:

Patrick O'Flaherty
304-646-6554
patrick@poflaherty.com

Patrick O'Flaherty is a native of Connemara, County Galway, in the west of Ireland. His unique show for young audiences, A Taste of Ireland, is a wonderful and engaging performance during which he sings children's songs in both English and in Gaelic. Gaelic, as Patrick explains during the show, is his first language, and the native language of Ireland. He shares his love of this beautiful language by teaching the audience a few phrases in Gaelic.

He tells stories from Irish legends and plays a selection of traditional reels and jigs. He also performs some original songs and tunes. As Patrick shares songs and stories from his homeland, audiences clap with enthusiasm and sing along to various songs.

Patrick skillfully adapts his show to suit his audience, enabling him to delight children of all ages. This show lasts approximately one hour. Call now to schedule “A Taste of Ireland”.

For more information and sound clips of Patrick's music:

www.poflaherty.com

or

www.irishpubonwashingtonstreet.com