

Irishman O'Flaherty performs at Coleman's

Irish music fans can get their fill of many of their favorite things when new Syracusan Patrick O'Flaherty performs, starting at 3 p.m. next Sunday at Coleman's Authentic Irish Pub, 100 S. Lowell Ave., Syracuse.

The Irishman promises to sing sweetly, play beautifully and crack wisely.

O'Flaherty's a popular figure in Irish music circles nationally and internationally. Since he moved to Syracuse when his wife, Andrea Izzo, accepted a position teaching special education at Le Moyne College last year, O'Flaherty's been looking for more opportunities to share his talents in the area.
